NEW INDUSTRIAL POSSIBILITIES.

THE free alcohol bill has been signed by the President. This bill is esteemed to be the most important, excepting the rate bill, that has been under consideration by congress during this session. The beneficial industrial consequences of the passage of the bill are beyond reckoning. As furnishing the people a substitute for petroleum products for heating, lighting and motive power purposes, the bill encountered Standard Oil opposition in the Senate. Its defeat being impracticable in the face of a universal demand for its passage, it was allowed to become a law by that body; to become effective Jan. 1, 1907, instead of three months from date of passage as the House bill had it.

The greater use of this new agency, alcohol, it is conceded means an important development for industry.

Secretary Wilson, it is stated, in addressing the ways and means committee of the House, asserted that free denaturated alcohol means a new and economical fuel and a new source of light and power. He further asserted that it means a new source of profit to the farmer. As to both of these assertions, they were amply reinforced by the testimony of scientists, expert mechanics and business men. It costs from six to fifteen cents a gallon to manufacture denaturated alcohol. An acre of Indian corn, with a yield of fifty bushels, would make 310 gallons. An acre of potatoes, with a yield of 300 bushels, would produce 245 gallons, while certain varieties of potatoes, it is claimed, will produce 500 gallons from a similar area. Sugar beets will yield more alcohol than either corn or potatoes.

As to utility, an alcohol lamp will give as good light, without the annoyance of smoke and for a longer time as compared with an oil lamp with like quantities of alcohol and kerosene. The successful use of alcohol in stationary engines has long since been established, both abroad and in this country. It has done excellent service in furnishing power for automobiles and motor-boats.

In Germany alone the mechanical utility of denaturated alcohol is so far recognized that it furnishes power for more than 6000 engines, many of which perform the heaviest kind of work. In all of this service the use of alcohol requires no change in machinery where oil or gasoline has formerly been used.

The possibilities of the manufacture of alcohol from the banana bring the passage of this bill home to us. No country can produce corn, potatoes or sugar beets for the purpose of alcohol manufacture, in competition with the banana here.

Posted on Election Duties.

Sam K. Pua during his visit to Honolulu conferred with the officials in the office of the secretary of the territory and with the county clerk of Oahu county relative to the details of the work involved in the conduct of elections. The coming election being the first under county government the machinery for it has to be prepared and got in order. The secretary's office furnished Mr. Pua with a number of sample blank forms to be used, including a register of voters, tally list, rejected voter's list, assisted voter's list, instruction cards, and several others. The ground was gone over thoroughly and full information in regard to the duties of the clerk obtained.

Married.

Dr. F. W. Taylor and Miss Annie Horner were married at noon on Wednesday, June 6, at the residence of the bride's father, at Kula, Hawaii, Rev. C. W. Hill, of Hilo, officiating. A grand reception was given bride and groom at the home of J. M. Horner on the Saturday evening following. Dr. Taylor is from Port Latur, Nova Scotia, and is now practicing at Paunilo and both Doctor and Mrs. Taylor are very popular in the district in which the reside. They have taken up their residence at Paunilo, mauka.

UNION SCHOOL EXERCISES.

Recitations and Songs—Salute to Flag, Pretty Night.

The closing exercises of the Hilo Union School were well attended on Thursday, both at the Riverside Primary and at the main building. At the primary the program was in part patriotic, the little ones entering into the spirit of the day with an ingenuousness delightful to behold.

"America," sung by one hundred and seventy-five bright eyed children of at least five different nationalities, was an especially interesting number.

At the main school the program was arranged with reference to Kamehameha Day and Flag Day as well as to the usual closing exercises.

The salute to the new flag by about two hundred children standing on the lawn introduced the exercises, which followed inside the school building.

A spear drill, given by twelve Hawaiian boys dressed in yellow helmets and caps, was a novel feature of the Kamehameha part of the program. This number was preceded by a sketch of Kamehameha the Great and followed by a song, "Hawaii Fair."

The recitation of selections from 'Hiawatha' by the 6th grade showed a good understanding and appreciation of the poem by the pupils who took part. Several pretty songs and "The Village Blacksmith," recited by Ruth Stacker, gave a pleasing variety to the program. Isabel Kennedy in costume made a very sweet little "Yellow Dandelion."

Flag-day sentiments and another patriotic recitation introduced a beautiful flag drill given by the young children. "The Red White and Blue" sung with enthusiasm brought the program to a close.

BOARDING SCHOOL EXERCISES.

Eight Young Men Receive Certificates of Graduation.

The closing exercises of the year at the Hilo Boarding School occurred Tuesday evening, June 12. The audience room was well filled with townspeople and students and the exercises were most creditable to the young men taking part and to their school. Of the trustees of the institution there were present Judge F. S. Lyman, Judge G. W. A. Hapai, Dr. Frances Wetmore, Rev. C. W. Hill and Mr. N. C. Willifong.

To the strains of a march the teachers entered followed by the graduating class and the students. The class, together with Principal C. B. Lyman, were seated upon the platform under a banner bearing the class motto, "Look Ahead." Without announcements being made the following program was gone through with:

Chorus, "Greeting Glee"; Invocation, Rev. C. E. Shields; Essay, "Burbank's Experiments," James K. Mattoon; Quartette, "Malani Anu ka Makani"; Essay, "Recent Lava Flows on Hawaii," Daniel J. Punihaole; Translation, "Present Japan," Kiyoharu Anai; Song, "Come Zephyr Gently"; Essay, "The Panama Canal," Oliver Lau; Essay, "The Origin of Trial by Jury," Nicolau de Souza; Chorus from Tannhauser, violin obligato, Mrs. R. T. Moses; Essay, "Titus Coan," James K. Makuanane; Essay, "The Development of a Nation," Soichi Yamamoto; Class Song, "Parting Whispers"; Presentation of Diplomas; Chorus, "Good Night."

At the conclusion of his oration each speaker received leis and a bouquet or two or magnolia blossom, the marks of appreciation from friends.

The orations were all well delivered; especially creditable, as the work of the school is divided between literary studies and manual training. Notably well written and spoken was the oration of Soichi Yamamoto, his subject being the Chinese Nation. He was valedictorian and extended the farewells of his class to the trustees, teachers, students and the principal in well-chosen words and effective manner.

In presenting the certificates to the graduates, Principal Lyman addressed to the class a few words of most sound advice clearly stated, that followed would lead to the highest success possible in life. The audience was dismissed with the benediction by Rev. C. W. Hill, following which the members of the class received the congratulations of their friends.

Of the members of the class, Soichi Yamamoto goes to Wooster, (Ohio) university for study; Jas. K. Makuanane, Dan J. Punihaole, Oliver Lau and Dan Thomas, will go to Punahou to school, and Kiyoharu Anai goes into missionary work on Maui. Jas. K. Mattoon expects to go to California for further study.

The last school event of the year was the class exercise on Thursday. The usual tree planting was varied this year by the erection of a monument of basalt columns brought from near Rainbow Falls, which was followed by a luncheon enjoyed by the members of the class, the teachers and a few invited guests.

HAS BEGUN OPERATIONS.

Koa Lumber Company Sawing—Ships to San Francisco.

The Hawaiian Mahogany Company has already begun operations. On Monday sawing began on a shipment of koa lumber to be sent to San Francisco by the steamer Enterprise. The mill at the shops of the Hilo Railroad Co. is to be used for the purpose of getting out the lumber till a mill can be got in operation in the forest, a space of several months at least, probably. This mill is to be located in the body of timber near the Volcano House. The mill at the railroad shops has a capacity of from two to three thousand feet a day, and will be kept in operation continuously, the output being shipped to San Francisco by the Matson steamers.

J. Gamalielson, living six miles up on the Kaumana road, will furnish the logs, from timber cut several years ago, delivering the same to the Hilo Railroad at Hilo for transportation to the mill.

A good demand for this lumber has arisen in San Francisco already for finishing work on buildings there, and Mr. Richley, who has taken a hand in the promotion of the industry, states that the supervising architect of the proposed Los Angeles post office is to specify it for use in the finishing of that building.

It is expected that the incorporation papers filed with the territorial officials a couple of weeks ago, will be returned approved by the latter part of the week, when officers of the company will be elected. Messrs. Robert W. Shingle, of Honolulu, and E. H. Cant, chief engineer for the Onomes Sugar Co., went to the Volcano Saturday afternoon on business connected with this enterprise.

The California Party.

The newspaper party of California young ladies returned to Honolulu Friday. They put in what little time was allowed them to visit the volcano in seeing the crater and objects of interest about the hotel, and expressed regret that their stay there had to be so short. The hotel management entertained the party in its usual royal manner. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Moore, of San Bernardino, chaperones, Miss Grace E. Smith, of Ontario, Miss Maud B. Medlin, of Needles, and Miss Jean Johnson, of San Bernardino.
